

synectics
SAFETY SPECIALISTS

Agreeing to act as a trial site for the assessment of FHWA's proposed RSA software, Collier County embarked on a pilot project of two separate road safety audits in the summer of 2005.

Synectics, the developers of the RSA software, were hired by FHWA to participate in the RSAs. Their role included the provision of a one-day training session and the introduction and application of the beta version of the software in the trials. Synectics staff participated in one of the two audits conducted and facilitated the RSA team development and input.