The Institute of Transportation Engineers organized a workshop on Local Road Safety Audits at the 2006 Spring Technical Conference in San Antonio, Texas. This workshop was designed to introduce road safety audits as an effective tool that can help reduce injuries and fatalities. The workshop helped local road agency professionals understand basic road safety audit concepts, risks, and safety concerns, and common issues and challenges.

Participants gained experience in conducting road safety audits. The workshop demonstrated that low cost safety improvements can be implemented quickly to reduce fatalities and severe crashes. Mr. Brian Malone and Mr. Craig Allred were each presenters. A total of 20 persons participated.
